

The Robb Report COLLECTION™

REAL ESTATE AND HOME DESIGN

A photograph of a modern outdoor lounge chair and a tall potted plant on a balcony overlooking the ocean. The chair is a dark, curved, woven design. The plant is a tall, thin, green plant in a clear glass vase. The balcony has a glass railing and a white tiled floor. The ocean is visible in the background under a clear blue sky.

Waterfront Homes

Seaside Estates, Lake Houses,
New Developments & More

JULY 2008
RobbReportCollection.com
A CURTCO MEDIA PUBLICATION
SUPPLEMENT TO ROBB REPORT
NOT INTENDED FOR INDIVIDUAL SALE

SPECIAL SECTION LUXURY HOME
The Ultimate Garden • Outdoor Furnishings

Best Undressed

► Azimuth Collection: Designer Michael Vanderbyl names both classic English outdoor wood furniture and modern architect Le Corbusier as influences for his Azimuth collection. "To me it's more transitional design—you can put it in a contemporary or traditional environment," he says. Available from Janus et Cie. $3,436. 800.245.2687, www.janusetcie.com

▼ X Series: "I wanted a chair with an arm that I could eat off of and write on," says artist turned designer Alwy Visschedyk of his X Series for Summit. He successfully achieved this functionality without compromising aesthetics in this set, constructed from plantation-grown teak. Chair, $3,733; Ottoman, $1,600. Sofa also available. 831.375.7811, www.summitfurniture.com

▼ Starck Sherwood Highback Settee: "I want to design things that are sexy and have ethical value," says designer Philippe Starck. Hence, with a nod to folklore hero Robin Hood, the Sherwood Highback sofa—a defining piece in the RobinWood collection for Sutherland—is made of Smartwood-certified teak grown in Indonesian sustainable forests, and recyclable aluminum. Prices vary. 800.717.8325, www.sutherlandfurniture.com LARA LOEWENSTEIN

