“Come rain or shine.” A good piece of outdoor furniture valiantly lives out the postal carrier credo, and always with panache. Fire pits and roasted vegetables, citronella candles and a daring blaze of fuchsia hibiscus—ambience in natural light deserves no less attention than the interior of the house. To read, to entertain, or just to sit alone, the desire is simple: something chic, classic, comfortable. We chose four impeccable chairs in four distinct moods to see the sunrise and the sunset over the private universe of your summer.
