Material Comfort

The brand-new California Collection from Suzanne Tucker for Michael Taylor Designs brings the renowned San Francisco-based decorator's refined style to a sweeping array of sturdy, easy-care outdoor fabrics in a range of patterns inspired by Taylor's design aesthetic. With names like Summerland, Yosemite and Monterey, expect fittingly evocative looks. *From $85, 135 Rhode Island St., San Francisco, 415.934.9400; 8687 Melrose Ave., Ste. Sleek Teak

For its latest collection of luxury teak furniture, Summit turned to Modesto-based designer Conrad Sanchez. The line, called Krios, includes a lounge chair, a chaise and a three-piece coffee table—and putting two chaises side-by-side creates the ultimate daybed. Generous proportions and deep cushions offer the plush comfort for which Summit is known, combined with a sophisticated new style that's at once hip and grown-up. From $3,340, 831.375.7811, summitfurniture.com

Expert Advice

What are you seeing as the major trends in outdoor decor?

"I teach, consult and design climate-appropriate gardens that not only save water but attract pollinators. Clients today want to do the right thing—from lawn removal to choosing plants that don't stress the environment, like California natives. It's a growing trend to learn about the plants they choose and the importance they play in our climate."

Ray of Light

Designed by Matteo Bazzicalupo for Italian firm Avant*Garde, the new Om Sound System is the wireless outdoor audio-lighting device of its kind. The design uses Bluetooth 3.0 and radio technology and is illuminated with LED lighting, yet it's completely weather-resistant. The easily portable unit comes in a variety of custom colors and finishes: The look can be clean and modern with a glossy exterior or more industrial with textured stone-like finishes. From $1,595, omsoundsystem.com
