MICUCCI, Suite B209

MICUCCI ARTE, an intimate contemporary art gallery space dedicated for Italian artists, is pleased to be collaborating with VENINI and exhibit "Venetian Glass Design 1932-1947" by Carlo Scarpa.

The exhibition showcases Carlo Scarpa's glass pieces still in production and highlights the techniques developed by him. Scarpa was the Artistic Director of VENINI from 1932-1947 and was intimately involved with production techniques and spent many hours with the master blowers to develop new surface textures, new techniques and colorings.

Through the exceptional craftsmanship of the master blowers, he designed and recognized hundreds of significant works in unique and groundbreaking styles.

Throughout his 15-year period directorship, the experiments Scarpa undertook at VENINI radically redefined the possibilities of glass-blowing. All the methods and techniques he developed remind us how motivated he was to research the detailing for interior design elements, just as he was for his breathtaking architectural projects.

MICUCCI ARTE is honored to present 32 sculptural pieces designed by Scarpa and cordially invites you for a private viewing of the solo exhibition.

Mimi London, Inc., suite G168

Celebrating our 40th anniversary in 2014, Mimi London, Inc. continues to build on our strong foundation of organically influenced style, quality and luxury. New collections include Objet Insolite's hand-forged bronze lighting, artisan rug maker Mitchell Denburg and Paris-based Sequana Textiles. Exciting and innovative new additions from Berman-Rosetti, Le Gracieux, Myung Jin, Nancy Caperton, Villa Savoia, Chelsea Editions, Twill Textiles, Mimi London and a unique array of accessories hand-selected from around the globe round out the new offerings.

Stark Fabric and Wallcovering, Suite B617

Visit the Stark Fabric and Wallcovering showroom to see the new fabric collections of 2014 from Old World Weavers, Lelievre, Grey Watkins, Fonhill, Missoni, Aldeco, Casamance and Houles. Our lines range from traditional, classic and formal to transitional and modern designs. We are debuting an animal collection from Old World Weavers and Jean Paul Gaultier's second home collection. Stark will also be showing new wallcovering lines that are unique and custom made such as Anya Larkin.

Summit Furniture, Inc., Suite B135

As Summit Furniture celebrates its 35th anniversary, the venerable teak manufacturer best known for creating the luxury outdoor lifestyle pays homage to its long lineage of signature collections. Designed by a distinguished group of American and European designers whose exclusive collections for Summit have graced the world's finest properties since 1979, Summit curates a well-edited design retrospective of its iconic furniture.

A chronological presentation of the company's signature pieces offers tribute to the fine design, materials and craftsmanship that are synonymous with the Summit name. For 35 years, these attributes are the reasons why Summit is specified for the prominent indoor and outdoor areas of some of the world's finest hotels and restaurants, private clubs, estates, villas and residences. From London to Paris, Monaco to the Caribbean, New York to Los Angeles and well beyond, Summit has earned its reputation as the leader in the fine teak furniture category.

Highlighting its prominence in the world of hospitality, the physical backdrop to this furniture showcase is a larger-than-life sized 'window' to the lush grounds of sunny Carmel, California's Quail Lodge & Golf Club, where Summit furniture welcomes guests.
